COMMISSIONERS VOTE 9 TO 5 AFTER LONG DEBATE

Construction of the Egner's Ferry end of the state highway through Marshall county is expected to go forward soon, following the action of the Marshall county board of road commissioners in depositing the county's part of the money to the credit of the State Highway Commission here Tuesday. The sum of $44,136.88 was ordered deposited to the credit of the state commission by a vote of 9 to 5 in the commissioner's meeting in the county court room Tuesday afternoon.

Some delay was experienced in getting at the vote which was moved shortly after the commissioners assembled about three o'clock. After much wrangling the vote was finally taken about five o'clock with Commissioners Bean, Hughes, Rayburn, Barker, Gatlin, Cope, Siris, Norwood and Tolbert voting for the motion and Commissioners Hastin, Halstead, Alden Love (representing George L. Goheen, of Birmingham), and Brien voting against it.

The board voted an amount not to exceed $2,000 from the proceeds of the interest due the county on the bond funds deposited with Caldwell & Co., toward meeting the regular county road fund of equal amount to purchase the 30 h. p. caterpillar tractor and No. 3 Russell grader with 8-foot blade for work on the county roads.

Clint R. Smith was appointed to figure each district's share of the interest due the county on the bond funds and place it to each district's credit.

The contract for the Ferry road was awarded by the State highway commission on the 31st of March. With the county's share of the cost put up the work is expected to begin immediately.

LIME TURNS WORN OUT FIELD TO GOOD PROFIT

An excellent demonstration of the profits to be obtained from the use of limestone has been made by H. C. Wood, a well-known farmer four miles west of Benton.

Two years ago Mr. Wood made an application of limestone on a worn out field, one of the oldest in cultivation in Marshall county, which was making a poor return. This year Mr. Wood has on this field an unusually good stand of Red Clover about two feet high which, it is estimated, will yield from one and a half to two tons of hay to the acre.

Farmers are invited to see this field of Mr. Wood's.

Several other changes toward making the games more interesting have been proposed and all those who are interested are urged to come and take part in the discussion.

30-Gallon Apparatus.

A large still in actual operation was raided Monday afternoon about two o'clock and three men, Arch and Barney Clark and Ovie Pitts, who were operating it were arrested by Sheriff Harry A. Miller, Judge H. H. Rayburn and Deputy Bill Rowe.

The still was found by the officers before liquor was run off and they watched until the liquid began to flow for evidence. As soon as it began to run the men were arrested and brought to Benton where they were lodged in jail in default of bond. They were held over to the grand jury in examining trial Tuesday.

The still was about 30-gallon capacity. It was in operation near Clark schoolhouse, about two miles east of Benton.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN CALVERT TRAIN CRASH

Mrs. Raymond Coursey, wife of a well known young farmer near Calvert City, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday shortly before noon when the rear end of her Ford touring car was hit by the fast Louisville-bound passenger train that goes through Calvert City at 11:48.

Mrs. Coursey was approaching the town from the north and was obliged to wait for a freight train going north on the track nearest her. The approaching passenger train, on the parallel track was hidden by the freight and when Mrs. Coursey crossed over immediately after the freight passed she was just far enough from the center of the on-coming passenger train to escape death. The rear wheels of the car were struck, careening the automobile for 40 feet but not upsetting it. Mrs. Coursey remained in the car and was marvelously unhurt. The rear end of the car was demolished.

LOAD 4TH CAR OF BERRIES THURSDAY

Good Weather Brightens Prospects; Quality So Far Is Excellent.

Cars shipped

Loading of the fourth car of strawberries of the 1927 crop was going forward a noon Thursday at the Benton station. Two cars were shipped out Wednesday night following the first days deliveries at the local station and about 300 crates were loaded in a third car. This car was finished Thursday morning and the fourth started.

Growers were highly with Thursday's weather, which broke crisp and clear after cloudy and rainy weather that threatened to holdback the ripening of berries considerably.

The Marshall county crop was damaged by frost this year but the damage to the crop in many localities is expected to raise the price over what is would have been had the full crop matured.

The quality of berries being delivered here is unusually good thus far, rejections being very few.

HOME-COMING DAY WILL AGAIN DRAW MANY THOUSANDS

Nearly Every Home in County
Expects Relatives, Friends
As Visitors.

FORMER RESIDENTS WILL RETURN TO OLD HOME SITE

A year has slipped quickly away and the time for the annual old Southern Harmony Singing will soon be here—just a week from this coming Sunday—the 22nd of May.

Big Singing is the annual home-coming day of all Marshall counties, wherever they may live. The call of Big Singing is a powerful summons to old residents and many of them come hundreds of miles each fourth Sunday in May to mingle again with home folks and friends.

This year will be the 43rd singing, the occasion having been instituted by Jim Lemon, a former publisher of the Tribune-Democrat, in 1884. Since that time it has been held in Benton each year with two exceptions, in 1915, shortly after the courthouse was destroyed by fire, in Paducah, and the following year at Glade.

Many a hog is laid on the altar of sacrifice for Big Singing day, that being the one occasion when ham supercedes fried chicken as the most delicious center of a bountiful "home" dinner.

Most every home in Benton is looking forward to the coming of some relatives or friend as its guest for the occasion and the same is true of many homes in the county.

As usual the N. C. & St. L. railway will run special trains from both the north and south to bring visitors from town nearby. The trains will run from both Paducah and Paris in the morning and return in the afternoon. The singing will begin at 10 o'clock in the circuit court room and will be preceded by an address by Circuit Judge Joe L. Price.

J. T. Fields who, for many years, has been one of the leaders in the singing, expresses the following sentiments:-

"The fourth Sunday in May is nearing, the time for the old Southern Harmony singing. We look forward to that day as one of the grandest days of 365. We want to sing the grand old songs of the days gone by.

We hope the best order will prevail and that there will be no other kind of singing nor preaching to cause conflict.

This is old Southern Harmony day and "come back" days get ready to come home on that day as there is just one old Southern Harmony Singing. Come one, come all."

Progress Club Host to Ladies at Dinner

Members of the Benton Progress Club were hosts to their wives Friday evening at a well-planned dinner at the Whiteway Cafe. Seventy were present.

E. L. Cooper ably presided as toastmaster and presented R. L. Wade, who charmingly welcomed the ladies, Mrs. Joe T. Lovett, who responded and Dr. T. W. Lewis, who made the principal address of the evening.

Doctor Lewis stressed the importance of Americanism. He said that since the war our patriotism had faded away and that it was needed to revive to combat the spirit of bolshevism that is gaining headway in our land. The foundation of Americanism is in Religion, Doctor Lewis averred.

BECKHAM'S POSITION ON
PARI-MUTUEL

J. C. W. Beckham, who a few days ago accepted the invitation of Kentucky Democracy to enter the race for Governor, has a clean record on the question of Pari-Mutuel gambling. His position was stated in the Courier-Journal in the year 1923.

A copy of the article which appeared in the Courier Journal of July 30, 1923, including a letter from Mr. Beckham to Joseph W. Morris, manager of the Cantrill campaign, is reproduced below:

J. C. W. Beckham, former Governor and United States Senator from Kentucky, yesterday espoused the candidacy of Alben W. Barkley, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and only of Mr. Barkley's advocacy of the repeal of the pari-mutuel law but in other matters as well. Mr. Beckham saying he was "enthusiastically supporting Mr. Barkley in his candidacy."

In a letter to Joseph H. Morris, campaign manager for J. Campbell Cantrill, Mr. Beckham referred to a letter sent out by the Cantrill campaign committee, in which it was stated that the pari-mutuel law was passed by a Democratic legislature and approved by a Democratic Governor (Governor Beckham). Mr. Beckham brands the statement as untrue. His letter to Mr. Morris in full follows:

"Mr. Joseph W. Morris, Manager Cantrill Campaign Committee, Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, Ky.

My attention has been called to a circular letter which you, as manager of Mr. Cantrill's campaign, have sent out to the Democratic voters in Kentucky, in which you say that the pari-mutuel law was passed by a Democratic legislature and approved by a Democratic Governor (Governor Beckham).

That statement is untrue and I will be charitable enough to assume that it was made in ignorance of the facts and in your natural zeal to promote the interests of your candidate.

I never signed nor approved any such act, and the only act concerning racing which I recall signing, while I was Governor was the act of 1906, creating the Racing Commission, and there was nothing whatever in the act on the subject of gambling. The act which you evidently had in mind, was the one passed in 1886 permitting French pools and incorporated in the revision of the statutes in 1893, many years before I became Governor.

Your mistake in this matter would not be important or interesting except for the evident purpose of it to give the impression among my friends in the State that I approve the present French pool or pari-mutuel law, and that I am not in cordial sympathy with the position of Mr. Barkley to repeal that law. I am therefore taking this occasion to call attention to your mistake and to correct any false impression that may have been created by it.

I am in hearty accord with Judge Barkley in this matter as well as in other politics which he advocates, and I enthusiastically support him in his candidacy.

If I have any influence with my friends in the State, as your letter would seem to imply, I want them to know that in my opinion they should earnestly and actively support Mr. Barkley in his race, and that his nomination would insure Democratic success in November, and a better administration of our State affairs.

Very respectfully yours,

J. C. W. BECKHAM.

Described In a Remarkable Series By an Officer of the

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—The author describes how the First battalion of the Fifth Marines are quartered near Marigny during the first part of June, 1918, when they are suddenly sent up north to relieve the First division, bearing the brunt of a tidal wave of Germans just breaking through for a great offensive. Part of the Fifth went Hill 143 from the enemy and wait there for the German counter-offensive they can see forming. While they are waiting the Boche a detachment of Second engineers comes to their assistance.

CHAPTER II.—A terrific German attack soon develops, wreaking great havoc among the marines, but not dislodging them. In the immediate vicinity other fierce encounters are reducing the American troops and forcing the necessity of replacements which arrive presently. On the sixth of June the Fifth runs into bitter fighting in the vicinity of Champligne for hours they try to oust the Boche from his stronghold in the woods and succeed commendably, but at great cost.

CHAPTER III.—This narrative centers about the activity of the marines, but really stands as a cross section of all the fighting done by Americans. After acquiring themselves marvelously at the Bois de Belleau and Hill 143 early in June, 1918, the First received replacements to cover horrible losses, fight some more and then are relieved, somewhat compensated for their heavy losses by a notable tribute to their fighting qualities issued by the general commanding the Sixth French army, but the liberty in Paris which the battalion would have preferred is not forthcoming.

CHAPTER IV.—Receipts behind the lines is soon crushed by new orders to proceed far to the north in the Salonne sector where the Germans are beginning a vast new offensive. After an all night's crawling forced march the battalion finally arrives at the new front. Their orders are to get into touch with the Moroccan division fighting with the French forces.

CHAPTER V.—On the morning of July 18, after a barrage from every French machine gun procurable, the American forces, with the Senegalese and the French Foreign Legion, go forward. All enemy positions are taken, as ordered, though at fearful cost, and the First battalion of the Fifth Marines are withdrawn for rest and replacements, going back to the front on the ground where they had taken from the enemy in the hard fighting of two days before.

CHAPTER VI.—After a short rest behind the Champagne front, the marines are again advanced to assist the French in a terrific drive against the heights of Blanc Mont. After receiving final orders the regiment marches up to the battle line. On their way, while passing a cross road, a German five-inch shell comes down just fifty yards from the men. A direct hit would have meant the annihilation of whole companies of the marching marines, but the fortune of war is with them for the moment, only one casualty, a machine-gunner, being recorded.

The left company, the Seventeenth was in a cover of scrubby trees. The other companies were likewise concealed. Only the Forty-ninth lay in the open, on a bleak, shell-pocked slope. A high-flying Boche plane spotted its platoon columns, asprawl eighty or a hundred yards apart on the chalky ground. "No good," said the second-in-command, cocking his head gander-wise in his flat helmet, "is goin' to come to that dam' thing, guess all our noble aviators have gone home to lunch." The plane, high and small and shining in the sky, circled slowly above them. Far back of the Boche lines there was a railroad gun that took a wireless from the wheeled culture. "Listen," said the captain, "listen to the—"

There were lots of shells passing over—the long tearing whine of the 75s, the coarser voices of the Boche 77s replying, and heavy stuff, but most of it was breaking behind or in front of the battalion. Into this roof of sound came a deeper note—a far off rumble that mounted to an enormous shattering road, like a freight train on a down-grade. The company flattened against the ground like partridges, and the world shook and reeled under them as a nine-inch shell crashed into the earth fifty yards ahead, exploding with a cataclysmic detonation that rocked their senses. An appealing geyser of black smoke and torn earth leaped skyward, jagged splinters of steel whined away, and stones of clouds showered down. Before the smoke had lifted from the monstrous crater the devastating rumble came again, and the second shell roared down fifty yards to the rear.

"Oh, Lord! They've got us bracketed!"

"I saw that one! I saw it—look right where the next one's gonna hit, an—" "Look where its gonna hit! Lawd, if I just knew it wasn't gonna hit me—ahh—!"

The third shell came, and men who risked an eye could see it—a dark tremendous streak, shooting straight down to the quivering earth. A yawning hole opened with thunder fairly between two platoon columns, and the earth vomited. . . . It was wonderful shooting. All the shells that followed dropped between the columns of prone men—but not a man was hit! The heavy projectiles sank far into the chalky soil, and the explosions sent the deadly fragments outward and over the company. More than a dozen shells were fired in all, the high sinister plane wheeling overhead the while. Then the company went forward with the battalion, very glad to move.

"Any one of those nine-inch babies would have blotted out twenty of us," marveled a lieutenant, leading his platoon around a thirty-foot crater that still smoked. "Or ripped the heart out of any concrete-and-steel fortification ever built—the good Lawd was certainly with us!"

To the company commanders, gathered at dark in a much disfigured Boche shelter in the Wood of Somme-Py, the major gave information. "The Sixth took Blanc Mont, and they are holding it against heavy counter-attacks. Prisoners say they were ordered to hold here at any costs—they're fighting damned well, too! The infantry regiments piped down the Bois de Vipre, just as we did the Essen hook. The division is grouping around the ridge, but we're pretty well isolated from the French. Tonight we are going on up and take the front line, and attack toward St. Etienne-Arnes."

—town north of the ridge and a little west. Get on up to Blanc Mont with your companies—P. C. will be there, along the road that duns across the ridge.

Why
Firestone
GUM-DIPPED TIRES
Wear Longer

WE recently were given the tremendous advantage of having the mammoth Firestone factories brought to us. In Tire Educational Meetings we were shown, by means of motion pictures, charts, tire samples and complete engineering data, the details of Firestone tire design and construction—and how Firestone and Oldfield tires and tubes are made in the world's most efficient and economical rubber factories.

Firestone pioneered the original low-pressure tire and made it practical by Gum-Dipping. The motion pictures showed us how the cords of the carcass are dipped in a rubber solution, thoroughly saturating and insulating every fiber of every cord with rubber. Simple demonstrations and tests illustrated the great advantage of this process, which supplies the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strains of low-pressure construction—one of the reasons why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are establishing such unheard-of mileage records.

We learned why the Firestone Balloon Tread gives extra safety, comfort and long wear. We were shown why Firestone, from the very beginning, designed and continue to use the round Balloon Tread, minimizing "shoulder breaks", so destructive to tires. Excess rubber at the edges of a Balloon Tread is wasted—actually detrimental to tire mileage. In the Firestone Tread the small units and sharp projections are scientifically placed to permit easy flexing, resulting in extraordinary riding comfort.

Come in and let us put a set of these Gum-Dipped Tires on your car—you can forget about tire trouble. Quality is higher than ever before—prices are the lowest in history. Buy now!

Builders Commend these extra values

THE builder of homes today is the final judge of building materials. He seeks quality, because material of high standard pledges the greatest service. He desires known products, because in them he may have the greatest faith. He demands durability, economy and day-to-day satisfaction. He uses Long-Bell trade-marked lumber for those reasons.

Years of acquaintance with the home-builder have given the Long-Bell organization a realization of these demands and to meeting such standards of lumber production the Long-Bell organization has devoted itself. In the manufacture of lumber... this organization has maintained standards that regularly assure maximum lumber value to the buyer.

We sell Long-Bell trade-marked lumber.

we were given the tremendous advantage of having the mammoth factories brought to us. In Tire Educational Meetings we were of motion pictures, charts, tire samples and complete engineering of Firestone tire design and construction—and how Fire-dipped tires and tubes are made in the world's most efficient and factories.

Simple demonstrations and tests illustrated the of this process, which supplies the extra strength to withstand strains of low-pressure construction—one of the reasons why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are establishing such unheard-of mileage records.

We learned why the Firestone Balloon Tread gives extra safety, comfort and long wear. We were shown why Firestone, from the very beginning, designed and continue to use the round Balloon Tread, minimizing "shoulder breaks", so destructive to tires. Excess rubber at the edges of a Balloon Tread is wasted—actually detrimental to tire mileage. In the Firestone Tread the small units and sharp projections are scientifically placed to permit easy flexing, resulting in extraordinary riding comfort.

Louisville Board of Trade, and the official head of the party, "is one that has made itself extremely popular with us on previous tours made. Indeed, it would probably be agreed by veterans of these tours that nowhere in its numerous excursions north and south of the Ohio River has the Louisville Board of Trade ever been more delightfully received than in this territory."

"We visit this territory frequently because it is one to which Louisville is largely bound by economic relations and by ties of blood and friendship. Many of the foremost business men of Louisville today were born in this territory. Louisville regards itself as distinctly a southern city and feels that its problems are largely the same as those of the rest of the South. Therefore, the Louisville Board of Trade is interested in better railway connections, improved river transportation, highway extension, flood control, crop diversification, the development of pure-bred live stock.

E. S. WOOSLEY
Director of Speakers

education and reciprocal trade relations. It is not only willing but anxious to cooperate with the rest of the South in obtaining these economic and social conditions that will promote the welfare and happiness of the people of the South."

WOULD KNOW OUR PROBLEMS

"We are hoping that the speakers who greet us on these tours will tell us what they are working for and how Louisville can help them. If they have any suggestions to offer or complaints to make we want them. Speakers need not be afraid of hurting Louisville's feelings. It is only through a frank presentation of facts as they appear that real progress can be made in remedying unsatisfactory conditions."

H. H. T. T. T.
Former Mayor of Louisville

Louis K. Webb, of Louisville, director of the tour, calls attention to the fact that the Board of Trade special train will carry six sleepers and two diners, and that sleeping accommodations and meals will be provided on the train. For that reason the Louisville Board of Trade does not expect hospitality other than the welcoming reception which practically every city on the itinerary has announced, including meeting the train with a reception committee and parading with the Louisville party to the place of speaking.

In view of the fact that the special train traveling on a rapid schedule, E. S. Woosley, director of speakers, announces that the men whom he assigns to speak for the visitors at each stop will speak briefly and to the point. In fact, he states, they are more anxious to hear than to be heard, and, in view of the limited time at each stop, they want to give local speakers ample time to present those matters that may be nearest to their hearts.

The single men defeated the married ones Sunday afternoon 12 to 9. Brown was on the mound for the singlers again. The right hander was a puzzle for the old fellows this time, striking out 21 of the 44 men that faced him.

Yet the losing team made their lone nine hits count for the same number of scores.

D. Ross and Hulen collected home runs in the 8th inning. Girls stole home in the fourth breaking a 5-5 tie; but after Lovett relieved Hyder in the 5th, his wildness and poor infield support combined against Brown's effective flinging made defeat sure for the married boys.

Shanks Can Win In November

News comes from Frankfort that William H. Shanks has filed papers as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Democrats in all sections of Kentucky are rallying to his support, believing that, without a doubt, he can win for his party against any Republican in the November election.

Mr. Shanks is a native Kentuckian, born and reared on a farm in Lincoln County, and is making his race as a real farmer candidate, who personally knows and feels the hardships which the farmers of Kentucky are experiencing under present conditions. He is the candidate of no faction, and can lead Democracy to victory without a doubt, his friends all over the State are unanimous in declaring.

Louisville Business Men Coming Here.
THE tremendous fertility of the agricultural areas of Western Kentucky and West Tennessee is well known to the Louisville Board of Trade, representing the foremost commercial, industrial, and financial interests of the Gate City of the South.
Louisville knows that the five foremost counties in both Tennessee and Kentucky, in value of crops according to the U. S. Census of 1925, were in the western sections of each state.
Louisville also knows that some of the most thriving cities and towns and some of the most delightful people in the United States live in these sections.
Related by ties of blood and friendship to the people of Western Kentucky and West Tennessee, Louisville is interested with them in problems of southern development.
It is with the hope of getting a better light on these problems and of renewing and extending acquaintanceship here that a party of 125 Louisville business men are planning a visit to thirty-five cities and towns in this section from May 23 to 27.
They sincerely hope to have the opportunity of meeting the business and civic leaders of this city when their special train arrives here.

LOCAL FARMERS TO VISIT CENTRAL KY.

Farm Field Day Will Be Held in Lexington August 4th and 5th.

Farmers of the Purchase region will have opportunity to attend the Farmers Field Day at the Experiment Station Farm, Lexington, on August 4th and 5th, according to E. J. Kilpatrick, Asst. State Agent, who recently visited this county. Visits will be made to a number of stock farms in the blue grass also.

The experimental work in crops and livestock will be explained to the visitors. A large exhibit of modern farm machinery will be a feature of the program. Many of the machines will be in operation, a portion of each day. Several speakers will be on the program including a national authority on farm machinery.

Previous summer meetings have attracted large crowds of farmers from many sections of the state. This year the program is being arranged with several features of interest to Western Kentucky farmers, including the visit to several of the beef cattle, sheep and dairy farms in the vicinity of Lexington.

It is expected that a large number of purchase farmers will avail themselves of this opportunity to attend a state wide meeting of farmers. The county delegation will be in charge of County Agent, H. E. Hendricks.

Pastor Not To Be Further Accused

By Roy Tatum
Another important chapter was added to the episode concerning the heresy charges against the Eldre Mr. Burkhardt, of Paducah last Saturday night.

A church committee appointed a month ago to go to West Union Baptist association, pastor Burkhardt's home association and investigate the record and standing of the pastor, secured the information in written reports.

Bridge over North Fork, Kentucky River, on the Hazard Jackson (Ky.-Va.) Highway, in Perry County. —A good illustration of the high class bridges being constructed by the State Highway Commission.

When the matter came up in church conference, pastor Burkhardt who presided over the meeting refused to allow the reports to be read. Some of the pastor's warm supporters then moved that no further charges be brought against the pastor, which was ordered by the church.
Mr. Fred Gregory known as "The deacon with the big stick", made a closing talk charging the investigating committee with lackness and carelessness in not securing information to present to the church. Mr. Gregory thinks the trouble is due to prejudice and covetousness.

SORT 'O PARADOXICAL—

Tell me not in mournful numbers
advertising is a dream,
For the business man who slumbers has no chance to skim the cream.
Life is real! Life is earnest!
Competition's something fierce.
If for dividends thou art yearning, learn to parry, thrust and pierce.
In the business field of battle,
mollycoddles have no place;
Be not like dumb, driven cattle,
be a live one in the race.
Lives of great men all remind us, we must bring the bacon home,
And, departing, leave behind us footprints on another's dome.
Let us then be up and doing,
otherwise we may be done,
Still achieving, still pursuing—advertise and get the "mun."

Everybody stops buying.

Cornwell Tells of Rescue Work In Louisiana Flood Districts

Dear Mother and babies:

I can't head this for I am lost. We are about 100 miles up the Red river in Louisiana tied up to the trees waiting for the small boats to bring in the refugees and if I could put my impressions of the last few days on paper it would make interesting reading, and I would send to the The Tribune as we of Marshall county know nothing of overflow conditions from reading the papers. I don't remember who wrote "Home, Sweet Home" but from what we have seen in the last few days I feel like he must have seen an overflow in the Mississippi valley and seen the poor wretches cling to their humble homes.

We see hundreds of families that have been run away from their homes with water up to the roof and have taken refuge in the barn lofts. Pigs and chickens on the house-tops and their cows and horses on rafts or on scaffoldings ten to twelve feet from the ground and still they refuse to leave.

We have seen little children on tops of houses, some sleeping while the larger ones kept them from falling off. We saw one family yesterday, seven niggers, three boys and several children on a roof, eating and sleeping there. As we dropped down the river last night about ten o'clock we were hailed by a man who asked us to take his family out, as they were standing in water then and had been for several hours, but we could not get to him, so sent a small boat for them this morning.

We have two large steamboats and several life saving crews with surf boats from Milwaukee, New Jersey coast and Key West, Florida. We have Red Cross supplies, food and medicines for those who need help.

I am proud of my government and the human family as they have both responded nobly to the call of mercy. We are taking out being fed in concentration camps, literally thousands and they are several feet more and it does, lots of people will be run off of their roofs. We had one boat to take off ninety-one yesterday and we had a radio to stand by where we are as there are more to come. There is only one bad feature about the rescue work that I can see, and that is it takes about three dollars to carry one to the desired place, now today with us, about sixty men, two boats burning about two tons of coal an hour and small boats using ten gallons of gas an hour we have only assisted two families with bread, canned goods and coal oil and they came after that, but the spirit is there and we are a great people notwithstanding our short comings.

Just now, at nine o'clock at night, another boat came along our side with a big barge literally covered with niggers and about a hundred whites on his decks; dogs, chickens, pigs and goats, old whitehead mummies with pipes in their mouths and mosquitoes world without end. I have charge of the locker and will start the rounds in a few minutes with a fine-grain tablet for each one. We have quinine soupbeans in a sack and if I had to live here I would implore the Genl to change me into a mosquito or a turtle so that I might be in my natural element.

I don't know when I will get this out but I will close for tonight as I am awfully tired as I am up at four o'clock every morning and in bed at ten to two. We have no mate and I have the make's work to do and this morning I kept count and I went up and down 331 stairs steps before breakfast, so you can see I am working.

Well, I have just been out with a dope gun shooting mosquitoes off about 200 niggers sleeping out on an open barge, old, young, large and small, babes at breast and covered with bumps from head to foot.

I can't describe the situation so as to give you an idea for as I write of one thing several more come into my mind.

Love to all,
R. C. C.
